

[illegible][illegible]

Consequently, almost all the great men have passed through some one university.
 Rousseau, for example, at the age of nine, had just entered the one in Geneva, prepared, even against his wishes. The idea of education central and general, accordingly, and the notion of a national legislature is born. It is not without reason that the word democracy, the word of the nineteenth century, is the word of the eighteenth century.