These results, in the context of the current and still ongoing research on the development of gender identity, have a lot of theoretical and practical implications, and they have a high degree of generality, making them useful in the study of other cultures and other social contexts. The results also have a high degree of generality, making them useful in the study of other cultures and other social contexts. The results also have a high degree of generality, making them useful in the study of other cultures and other social contexts.

the 1980s, however, many groups of immigrant women migrants are engaged. This geographical focus of the migration and mobility has resulted in cities such as New York, London, Los Angeles, and others without adequate consideration of the distribution and settlement and their impact on business and economic development.

Therefore, both of the previous two dimensions will be integrated in a lot of time and research and both structural policies regarding the economic and administrative. Indonesian diaspora policies represent differences. These groups of diaspora become subjects and not the migrants that is in Indonesia, particularly concerning the way of entering, access, and policy.

Immigrant Women

The study focuses on the migration of ethnic women who are subjects and objects of structural policies, which is based on the idea of the social structure, including the fact that social class and their social movements in Indonesia. Study on transnational migration is a globalized comparative study in which the role of women in the network process including cultural, economic, and social activities and social identity. Migration study focus is not a person but on the social process, relations in the global context (Kumar, 2000).

Southward migration of women is based on economic, religious, and social. The migration of women is generally driven by economic reasons and leading women to work in the city or abroad. In the context of migration, women are active players in the migration process. The United Nations, The United States, and other countries have contributed to the migration of women from South to North and women increasingly played a role in the migration and settlement process with various fields of migration studies.

In the global context, the role of women is very important and cannot be ignored and often they are active in social and economic of their country as well. The Indonesian women have been increasingly active in the global and other areas in which they are not only focus
